Bangor, July 22, 1886

Worth Reading.

WHEN by long study and many experiments, a physician has discovered a new principle of medicine, more purely and effectively than before, it immediately becomes his duty to make it known to the public, and to offer it to the world, as a remedy for the various diseases of the human body, and to the world, as a remedy for
